The Academic Health Network (AHN) is pleased to announce the upcoming events, which will be held in different countries, across the globe and through the Winter - Spring events.

There are two types of events: closed and open. The closed events are designed for direct evidence or participants. The participants are generally meeting, conferences, talks and live experiences available in real time, students can experience activities in various multidimensional courses. The open events are designed for open access, with all types of content.
